Want to kickstart your IT career and work with top-notch technologists in an environment of continuous learning?

We are hosting a live session in which some of our young Accoliteers will share their unique stories of how they took charge of their career from how they started their professional journey to where they are today.

Be part of the session to know about our learning division, Accolite University, what we are looking for in candidates, get insights into opportunities and #life at Accolite!
